Why do you think we naturally recognize God is in control when life is going well, but then question His Sovereignty when it is not?

Is it possible to be "overly righteous?" If so, what does that look like?

If "we all die anyway," what is the real benefit of wisdom? What are proper motivations and expectations for wisdom?

What's an area of your life you are tempted to think, "Well, if I do "x," then "y" has to be the outcome of it? What was your response when "y" didn't happen?

The Bible is not sexist (because God is not sexist), but verse 28 can sound like it in English? What do you think verse 28 is saying? How do you work through understanding verses that sound "really bad" at first glance?

How were you challenged, convicted, or comforted by this passage?
