

Ecclesiastes 7:1-13

november 8, 2026

Look at the words of Jesus in the Beatitudes. Do you think He's saying a similar thing to Solomon or something different?

David Brooks (the author, not the man who attends our church) suggests some people live with their resumé in mind. Others live with their eulogy in mind. What difference does such a focus make?

Ever just needed a good laugh during a hard season? Ever sought to escape life by just entertaining yourself with silliness? What makes the difference between the two?

What's something you can think of that started out really well, but finished poorly? How did that affect the way you thought about the start?

What does it look like to protect wisdom?

How were you challenged, convicted, or comforted by this passage?
